

Richard Webb Bio

Richard received his Bachelor of Arts in General Studies with an emphasis in Ethnic Studies from the University of Northern Iowa and Masters of Arts in Education with emphasis in Leadership from Augsburg College.

Richard has over 20 years of experience working across P- 20 educational system in school district administration, post-secondary preparation, academic and student affairs and strategic enrollment management. He has worked in different capacities training and facilitating experiences that support successful racial and multicultural inclusiveness within diverse environments. His research area has focused on using intercultural assessment to develop and practice culturally and racially relevant services to diverse student populations in educational settings.

Richard has developed a reputation across multiple educational, corporate, and nonprofit organizations as an innovator, bridge builder, voice, and practitioner. Richard as an administrator, instructor, coach, trainer, and consultant, has a gift in focusing on the strengths of his clients and communicates how their set of unique qualities contribute to leadership development and management performance. He is valued by his clients for designing and facilitating authentic and positive learning environments that support awareness, growth, and transformation.

Richard is married to Karey Webb. Richard's life philosophy revolves around this quote from this quote by Malcolm X "Education is our passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to the people who prepare for it today."--